Tops Wanted List . . .

Co-eds Voice Choice; Prefer Quinn McKay

Popular studentbody president Quinn McKay, Huntville, was chosen "Most Preferred Man" by BYU coeds as a result of balloting last Wednesday thru Friday. Jack Nelson, Bellflower, Calif., received second place in the contest, and Jim Geddes, Banda, Ida., and Scott Speakman, Provo, tied for third place.

Quinn's court consists of nine, next highly rated men: Merle Allen, Barney Barnes, Bob Driggs, Howard Gonzales, Russ Mickelson, Dick Owsen, Lelley Porter, Dick Robison and Albert Whaanga. All these men will be specially honored at the annual Preference Ball on December 4.

Expresses Surprise

Sandy-haired Quinn expressed his surprise at the election results when he said, "I really feel it is a great honor. I have had no one or two aspirations in my life, but this is certainly beyond my imagination."

Jack, a blonde senior, was also high up in last year's balloting. Jan, another senior, is president of the Associated Men Students. Brown haired Scott is Campus Branch president and was last year's "Most Preferred Man."

Choice of Escorts

Besides voting for the most preferred man on campus, each co-ed also stated her choice of escorts to the Preference Ball. Results of the balloting are now being tabulated and announcements will be sent to each girl who voted and to the boy whom she selected.

Tickets are to be purchased by the girls. They can be bought Dec. 24 in the Smith and Science lobbies at $1.25 a couple.

A special feature of the Preference Ball is a banquet to be for the dance for the Preferred Men and their special guests. An other extra will be the Preference Ball assembly on Dec. 3 with the theme "A Moment from Wonderland."

KDYL Television To Screen Rally

A special feature of Football Week will be the big pep activities television show. Students from Brigham Young University will be on the air Wednesday from 4:30 p.m. over KDYL-TV. The show is planned to advertise the Thanksgiving game and let the public know that BYU really intends "To Turn the Tables" against Utah.

The program will feature the ROTC pep band, directed by Richard Ballou, with Lois Johnson, m.c. The Sponsors, yell leaders, and song leaders will be on hand to boost spirit.

Two Dances Slated For Tomorrow Night

There will be a regular Mat Dance Wednesday in the Social Hall at 5:30 p.m. The Pep activity committee are sponsors for this dance.

There will also be a dance Wednesday night in the Smith Ballroom, announced Dwayne Stevenson, activity chairman. This dance will be after the Pep Assembly in the Smith auditorium.

Oratory Finals Slated Today

by Rose Workman
University Editorial Associate

Finalists in the annual Heber J. Grant oratorical contest will present talks in devotional assembly today, according to Dr. J. LaVar Bateman, director of BYU Forensic activities.

Selected Thursday, finalists are Varlene Cook, Willard, Utah; Gary Kay, Salt Lake City; and Stanford Sorenson, Driggs, Ida. These people are "some of the best we have had" in the contest, Prof. Bateman said.

Varlene is a sophomore student, active in debate and for oratics on BYU campus. She is a former winner of the annual American Legion Oratorical contest, and a finalist in the Rotary Oratory contest.

Gary Kay was a member of one of the undefeated teams at the Junior College Forensic Meet held recently.

Stanford is a speech student, having had roles in several major plays. This is first entry into forensics.

Football Week reaches a climax Wednesday and Thursday as a series of pep events precede the Thanksgiving Day football game with Utah, according to Dr. Wayne B. Hales, chairman.

Scheduled are a pep mat dance, the football rally, a bonfire, and another mat dance on Wednesday. Thursday, buses and the car caravan will leave from the Smith building in time for a card stunt practice at 12:15 p.m. in the Utah stadium. After the game, a dance in the Utah Student union building will be sponsored by the Associated Men Students of both schools.

Universe Needs Rest; Next Issue On Dec. 3

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday this will be the last issue of the Universe until Thursday, Dec. 3. The copy deadline will be Monday, Nov. 30.

There will be no staff meeting today for Universe reporters. The next meeting will be Dec. 1 at 4:30 p.m. in the basement of the Student Service center.

Frosh Name Rex Lee As Class Prexy

Rex Lee, St. John's, Ariz., was elected president of the freshman class in class elections last week.

Other class officers elected were: John Skidmore, El Monte, Calif., vice president; Ruth Ann Price, Richland, Wash., secretary; Dallas Merrell, Moses Lake, Wash., and Terry O'Brien, Pullerton, Calif., as legislative council members.

Rex was president of his senior class in high school and editor of the annual. He has also been chairman of the freshman council and is active in forensic activities. His major is political science.

"I'd like to thank the freshman class for the vote of confidence and I'll try to serve to the best of my ability," stated Rex.

John, a second quarter freshman, is a director in the Student Program Bureau, a member of the poster committee, and is affiliated with Brigadier social unit. He served a mission in the Texas-Louisiana Mission.

In high school Ruth Ann was a member of the National English Society, secretary of the Pep Club, Inter-school commissioner, and chairman of several committees. While here Ruth Ann has been working as a studentbody receptionist.

The football rally will feature outstanding talent with time for the practice and learning of drills. A bonfire will be lighted after the rally in hopes of "turning the tables" on Utah.

Card Practice Again

The practice of card stunts in last Thursday's assembly was not good enough for the television audience, according to Dwayne Stevenson, pep director. Therefore, a special practice session has been set for 12:15 in the Utah stadium. All those who have tickets for the special routing section are asked to be in their seats early.

The BYU Puritans and the Utah Indians will officially close Football Week, Thursday night with an "Early American Night" dance. Starting at 9 p.m. in the Utah Union building, the dance will feature a 11-piece orchestra with their "horns of plenty." Tickets are $1.50.

Scandinavian language Classes Being Offered

Extension Division of Brigham Young University is sponsoring a non-credit course entitled, "Scandinavian Languages for Genealogists." This course will make it possible for genealogists to use the vast quantities of microfilm from Scandinavian countries which have been completed within the past few months. These films are in the Salt Lake Genealogy library.

The course will begin Jan. 6, 1954, and continue until March 17, 1954. The class will meet one week from 7 p.m. until 9:20 p.m. in 255 Physical Science building. Elder Henry E. Christensen of the convention staff of the Church Genealogical Society and superintendent of research of that society, will be the instructor. The course will use the languages in genealogical research. Tuition will be $10 per quarter and will provide for approximately 25 hours of classroom instruction.

This course is for students interested in acquiring sufficient background in these languages to do research in the native tongue. The late Dr. John A. Widtsoe of the council of twelve conducted a survey in which it was discovered that 40 per cent of the church members have ancestors from the Scandinavian countries.

Anyone wishing to enroll in this course is asked to contact Dr. Lynn A. Hilton of the Extension Division.

Prisoners Display Art on Y Campus

Inmates of the Utah State Prison have paintings on display in the mezzanine of the Physical Science building as part of a reciprocal program with art students at Brigham Young University.

The prisoners instituted a class because of their interest in art, announced J. Roman Andrus, acting director of BYU's art department. They pay for materials used by selling their paintings and buying a common stock which all use.

Ray Haueter, prison classification officer, helped stimulate interest in the class and helped it get started. No time is given out regular duties to attend classes.

Paintings will be on display for several weeks.

Moderation in Athletic Aim, Mooney Avers

Moderation in the Brigham Young University athletic program was urged last Wednesday by John Mooney, Salt Lake Tribune sports editor. Speaking to the Press club, Mr. Mooney stated that BYU athletic policies are fundamentally sound but not practical.

Mr. Mooney added that BYU either must give on the strict interpretation of rules or convert other Skyline conference schools to BYU's way of thinking.

In a question and answer period following his prepared remarks, the Tribune sports editor declared that, BYU must find a middle course in athletics "not completely white or completely black." In the middle lies a sound athletic program, he said.

"If the leaders of BYU ever want to make the school an LDS Notre Dame, the University of Utah and Utah State would run second best," Mr. Mooney declared.

He continued by stating that a long time aim to build BYU to football leadership has started this year with the fresh football team. Several top prospects from Mountain states chose BYU this year for church and family ties.

Student Program Director Is Responsible For Talent

by Dick Scholle
Universe Tuesday Editor
Directing Student Program Bureau activities consists of more than conducting auditions for talent and making sure that shows go on the road in proper order.

The chairman of the Student Program Bureau is responsible for all publicity, keeping a file of auditioned campus talent, and all administrative work. He is also a member of the Executive Council cabinet.

Bureau chairman is Dick Clark. All functions and activities center around his office. Under Dick is a first vice president, a second vice president, a business manager, and a secretary. These five people comprise the entire administrative staff. All their activities are coordinated with Janie Thompson faculty adviser.

Letters are sent by the chairman to bishops, high schools, civic organizations, and business clubs throughout the Intermountain West to acquaint people the services of the bureau.

When an organization requests a show, all details of scheduling talent to participate, transportation, and all other details are turned over to one of the 25 directors. The chairman has nothing to do with making up the show.

Although the directors are responsible for arranging talent for the shows, the chairman must see to it that all arrangements have been made, and that all shows leave campus in proper order.

Full Days

Because of popular demand, sometimes ten shows are sent out in one day. At times these shows are gone two days and may make as many as six appearances during one tour.

A complete, up-to-date file is kept of all auditioned talent on campus. This file has the talent segregated in sections according to types of entertainment: singers, dancers, or readers.

Whenever someone is auditioned for talent, their names are put in the file with a code number which rates their ability compared with other talent on campus. It was estimated that over ten per cent of the student body are listed in this file.

If the job of chairman and all those working with the Student Program Bureau were stated in one sentence, it would be to "sell BYU" to the people of the Intermountain West.

Elders Start Sales Of Holiday Cards

Elders Quorums from Campus and North Campus Branches are selling Christmas Cards to add to their missionary fund. The money will be used to support several missionaries now in the field.

The cards may be purchased from quorum members or in the Joseph Smith building and Physical Science building.

Stickers from BYU will be the main theme of the cards. They will have winter scenes of such familiar campus sites as the library, Smith building, Maeser building, and Mt. Timpanogos. There will also be some cards of original Christmas designs.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS ABOUT DIAMONDS

Long ago covenant bound the ankles of the maidens of their choice, partly to signify engagement, and partly to keep them from running away. Later they made a practice of tying a band of sweet grass on their sweetheart's finger, with the same motive in mind. This gradually led up to the custom of giving engagement rings.

Prof. H. Isaksen Named To Sunday School Job

Dr. Henry Isaksen, assistant professor of personnel and guidance, was named last Friday to the General Board of the Deseret Sunday School Union, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Two members of the Brigham Young University faculty were recently appointed to stake positions at the Provo Stake conference. Lynn M. Hilton, assistant director of the Extension division, and O. Norman Geertson, instructor in physics, were the two named.

Mr. Hilton was named stake clerk and Mr. Geertson was sustained as alternate member of the High Council.

Mr. Hilton has served in the bishopric of two wards and as a member of the Chicago Stake High Council. His mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was in New England from 1945 to 1947.

Foreign Language Recordings Made

Brigham Young University's department of modern and classical languages has announced that there are now records and tape recordings of foreign language lessons available for language students.

These recordings are in the music room of the Heber J. Grant library, and were placed there through the cooperation of Jacob Bos, special instructor in music. Language students can now go to the library and listen to recordings of their own teachers' reading and explaining the text.

Languages in the library include German, French, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese, and Russian.

Boy Scout Council Plans to Survey Worth of Program

A nationwide survey is now being conducted to locate all former scouts and scouters of the Pasadena-San Gabriel Valley, California Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Questionnaires have been prepared to measure the benefits a boy receives in his earlier scouting years, by advantages gained in adult life because of his Scouting experience. Findings will be reported to the National Council.

Over 75,000 boys have participated in scouting programs in this one Council during the past 30 years. All former scouts and scouters of the council are requested to send their name, present address and former troop affiliation to Matt Grandson, Survey Chairman, Boy Scouts of America, P.O. Box 3033A, Pasadena 3, California.

Geology Teacher Co-author of Book

Dr. J. Keith Rigby, assistant professor of geology, is co-author of "The Permian Reef Complex of the Guadalupe Mountain Region of Texas and New Mexico," a book just off the press.

The book, a 308-page volume, is a geological study of the region described in the title.

Dr. N. D. Newell of Columbia University and the American Museum of Natural History is the co-author.

Dr. Rigby, who joined the Brigham Young University faculty this year, received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from BYU and his Ph.D. degree from Columbia University.

Got the Pep? . . .

Officers To Award Trophy To Most 'Pep Active' Unit

Associated Men Students has announced plans to award a trophy to the social unit, geographical club or other campus organization which contributes most to pep activities each year. The first award will be presented this year.

Winning the trophy three consecutive years will give an organization permanent possession of the award.

Organizations presenting pep rallies, half-time entertainment, or other pep events will receive points. There are a possible 50 points for scheduled events, such as rallies and games, and 30 points for unscheduled events which the units may originate. Ten points will be given for advertising, ten for unit participation, ten for originality, ten for organization, and ten for student body participation. Unscheduled events will receive ten points for unit participation, ten for originality, and ten for contribution to overall pep.

In order to qualify, all events must be authorized by the Director of Pep Activities, Dwayne Stevenson, and AMS must be notified so two members of the Council may judge. A sheet of detailed instructions may be obtained at the Student Coordinator's office.

Units may earn points during Football Week. Attendance at Utah will be an opportunity for recognition as the most "pep-filled" unit on campus.

PILGRIMS OF 1953

In 1632 a brave band of Pilgrims disembarked from the good ship Mayflower and entered into a new life. The group set foot in the New World in the late fall of the year, and immediately encountered the cold and inclement weather of New England. They faced hunger, cold, and all of the combined hostilities of a new and untamed wilderness.

Not least among the dangers facing these pioneers was the Indian menace, although some friendly relations were at first maintained. The Red Men were in general a menace which demanded unwavering vigilance.

Next Thursday another brave band of pilgrims will set forth on a pioneering expedition. While the destination is more or less civilized, the modern Pilgrims will face many of the same difficulties which their predecessors encountered.

It will probably be cold. Many will suffer from hunger. Like the early Pilgrims, the eyes of the world will be focused upon their efforts to succeed or their struggle in failure.

As in earlier times, the greatest menace to the success of the venture will be—Indians!

The early Pilgrims overcame the cold—they existed with what they could procure from the land until food became more bountiful. They demonstrated to the world that mere nature cannot discourage the concentrated efforts of a dedicated band.

They fought with all of the weapons at their command. They were not discouraged. They could not be turned from their purpose. Neither the odds nor the dire predictions of those remaining behind influenced their strong and unwavering faith.

And we would ask you to consider as a parting thought—who won—the Pilgrims or the Indians?

USE SOME SENSE

It is evident from the paint that was splashed on several campus buildings Sunday night that some people, most likely students of another university, have been grossly misinformed about the seriousness of their acts. They also don't seem to realize the value of true sportsmanship.

Skyline conference rules prescribe severe penalties for such thoughtless acts. These penalties range from dismissal from school of those responsible to expulsion of the offending school from the Skyline Conference.

These penalties are severe prices to pay for a few frivolous moments with a paintbrush. True school spirit, even before a football game with Utah, is generated and expended in more mature ways.

It would be well for every Brigham Young University student to think twice before "degrading" himself, his school, and Church by resorting to similar retaliation.

A GOOD SHOW

Although there is a variety show review by a guest critic appearing on page eight of this issue—we would still like to add our two bits.

Billed as the first "bona fide" variety show in four years, it surpassed expectations by being one of the best student shows to put in a campus appearance during the last four years—assemblies, plays, etc. included.

It was all the more outstanding because as a true variety show, it was written, both story and music, by students. The acting, directing and stage sets were also handled mainly by students.

The timing, dancing and singing had a degree of polish seldom seen on any university stage. The acting, particularly the comedy, was a clean, fresh approach to a usually difficult performance.

Credits again to Linda Worsley and Ron Wilcox for the music and play, and Bruce Biddle and Virgil Camp for the orchestrations and conducting. Also to everyone connected with the outstanding production.

It may be well to look forward to next year. "Keynote" set a precedent when it more than paid for itself showing that it can be done.

Planning for the show took place throughout last spring and summer. In order for a successful show next year—planning should start now!

Scribe Finds Justice In Gal's Choices

by Dallas Burnett

Women's suffrage has won another victory! The gals went to the polls in great numbers last week and chose Quinn McKay as their most preferred man.

For once we've got to give the girls credit for some wise decisions, because they came up with a pretty good crop of preferred men. Naturally, we would think that any of the rest of us would have been just as good a choice, but then we all can't win. We ask Quinn just what the secret was to his success, and in his own modest way he disclaimed any knowledge of secret formula. There must be something about that marriage office he teaches in Campus Branch that turns the trick.

Change of Mind
Still on this Preference Ball business—the committee had a real hectic time for several days after the voting was completed. Girls kept calling up to change their choice of a date one way or the other.

Some gals were calling with the story that they'd just gone with a "dream-man" and they just had to have him for their date. And to believe that there were a few females who had dates with their preferred men over the weekend was the process they suddenly decided that he wasn't such a catch after all. Just can't seem to please these women.

Rattle in Rock Canyon
Newspaper stories about a couple of altercations in Rock Canyon the last two weeks have increased parking congestion around the Family Life Center by one hundred per cent, we estimate. If these incidents continue, students doing lab work in the center will have to demand the protection of the campus police.

Oratorical Contest
Final trials are held on the Tuesday nearest the birthday of President Grant. His oldest granddaughter, Mrs. Lucy Taylor Anderson, will attend to present the award to the winner. A number of other descendants of President Grant will also attend the assembly.

Dr. Harold I. Hansen, head of the speech department will conduct the contest. Students will speak on faith-promoting subjects.

Safety Valve

Cheering . . .

Dear Editor,

Now that the football season has almost reached its end and the basketball season approaches its beginning, there is a suggestion I would like to make. This pertains to the effectiveness of the cheer leaders. This criticism is not meant to offend any of them but rather to give them a few suggestions in order to improve their abilities. These are as follows:

1. Time the yells so they do not interfere with the calling of plays. A good rule is to yell only during the lull of play.
2. Cheer when the team comes out of the huddle, but not rather to give them a boost and then neglect time and again.
3. Follow the progress of the game more closely and have a proper yell ready. A good example of what not to do is to yell "Here we go" or "On the way" and 15 yards to go, and when it is obvious that the team is going to kick the ball.
4. There is not enough cheering for the injured player, and replacements as they come off the game.
5. Lastly, have better coordination between band and cheer leaders.

In conclusion may I again stress the importance of watching the game closer and giving the proper yells.

Sincerely,

George Salskian

'Studying' Again . . .

Dear Editor:

These remarks are in reply to the letter titled "Studying" in the November 19th Safety Valve. If Mr. Peterson, Do you honestly believe that it is so many possible to "play ball, earn a living, and maintain a decent scholarship"? I agree with you wholeheartedly on the subjects of scholasticism and athletics, but these alone are a full-time job.

Thirty-two players showed up for football practice this fall. This is disgraceful for a school with an enrollment of 8500. The reason for this is simply that athletes have no incentive to play at BYU. This incentive can easily be supplied by the parties who stand to gain the most—the school administration and the Skyline Conference.

I do not think it is unethical or dishonest to supply titles for students who put in months of hard work and usually sustain at least one serious injury during the course of a football season. A winning football team brings immeasurable prestige, publicity, and monetary remuneration to a university.

I am a person who would be itching to play football for the athletic scholarship system were continued and I am sure there are scores of other fellows who feel just as I do.

Steve Hale

More 'Studying' . . .

Dear Editor,

Please excuse this hastily and no doubt badly written letter, but however it is written, I would like to direct it to Mr. Levi S. Peterson, who in the November 19 issue of the Universe criticized both the athletes and the excellent article written by Jack Nelson.

Mr. Peterson, have you ever tried to carry 15 credit hours, devote even a little time to studying, attend at least one chalk talk, work practice for miles every two hours a day, and I mean hard practice, go on a football team, and have to work every work part time? I don't think you have, otherwise you wouldn't expect it of anyone else.

Open your eyes! Look around you and ask the first person you meet, and you will find out that BYU already has a reputation for a high scholastic standard. If it didn't, why are you here?

I don't know what makes you think the athlete has a "braden mind" or that they possess only brute strength, but let me tell you this: The boys who make up this year's football team are some of the finest guys on our campus. They are fine because they have a variety of interests and don't sit with their heads stuck in a book like the rest of the academics are walking around here. Even though you may not be good enough to play varsity football is no reason to be in active. There are a lot of intramural sports here for you, enough for everyone if you will only accept this worthwhile activity.

I think a good suggestion for you who think football is not worthwhile, is to get out to that Utah-BYU football game and really get in the spirit and yell for your team. Remember it is your school they are representing.

Please, President Wilson, give guys like Dewey Brundage and Marion Porter a chance to play real football. Give us a chance to be proud of walking here at the Y. I promise you, that you will find these boys have just as much brain as the academics.

Receptionists Keep Studentbody Officer Appointments in Order

by Carolyn Ririe—Universe Society Writer

Everyone likes to be greeted with a smile, have his questions answered pleasantly, and if calling on the telephone, hear a cheerful voice on the other end.

There are seventeen girls serving the studentbody who fulfill this desire. Credit should be given when it is deserved, but for the time job the studentbody receptionists do there is often little recognition.

These freshmen girls, chosen each quarter by an interviewing committee, donate their services two or three hours each week. During this time they are responsible for making and receiving calls, answering questions on the telephone, and typing correspondence. Pat Rossiter and her interviewing committee make certain that each girl is personable, and also capable of handling the varied duties assigned her.

When you contact the studentbody offices, the willing assistant you find will probably be one of these receptionists, under the supervision of studentbody secretary, Joanna Hobbs.

Dance Organization Will Hold Tryouts

Orchestra, national honorary dance society, recently began another year of dancing on the Brigham Young University campus. Under the direction of Miss Jeri Lu Crowther, dance and physical education instructor, members will participate in assemblies and productions.

Membership in Orchestra is gained through tryouts. The dancers are chosen for their ability to arrange dances as well as the dance. Both men and women are eligible to try out. Those interested in becoming members should come to the Women's gym Monday from 9-10 p.m., dressed to dance. Instruction will be given on techniques and requirements necessary for tryouts.

Officers were elected at the Orchestra meeting Wednesday. Chosen were Jean Dixon, president; Spanish Fork; Millicent Stewart, vice president; Spanish Fork; Jileen Harding, secretary; Payson; Gene Ingemoll, treasurer; Ann Payson; Garth Ulbeel, publicity manager; Mt. View, Alta.

Time Spent Shaving Keeps Men Students From the Fairer Sex

by Colleen Young

Universe society writer, Colleen Young, says the life is quite as astonishing to me as the fact that ladies don't like whiskers. We all know that Nature gave them to man with the quaint idea that they would prove attractive to his lady friends, but neither Eve, nor any of her thankless daughters, have realized their beauty and worth. Not one do they dislike them, but they make their men shave them off.

Girls, because of our thoughtlessness, the average masculine member of our studentbody is forced to spend (according to my figures) about 152 hours, and 15 minutes a year shaving. This takes a considerable hunk out of his short lifetime. Think how much less time he has to spend with members of the fairer sex. Besides that, shaving costs money which he could spend on us. Imagine how much more fun it would be to kiss a man with a tickly mustache than it is to kiss one with "pig bristles." Also, think of the beautiful beards our men would sport: red ones, black ones, and curly ones. Picture it in your minds, girls—a red beard and blue Janzen sweater, and white buck shoes—what more could a college girl ask in a man?

This new practice, besides separating men from women boys would add dignity to the Brigham Young University campus and would bring popularity to all of us.

If the male students began to show their stateliness and manliness by wearing beards, the faculty would probably do the same. Imagine Dr. Christensen and Dr. Rice with beards!

Y Sponsors Attend Confab at U. of Utah

Meeting Sponsors from California and other western states was the Brigham Young University ROTC Sponsor Corps during last weekend at the University of Utah.

Plans for building a stronger unification of the National Organization of Sponsor Corps was the main topic of discussion. Of special interest was the offer of new types of uniforms worn by the girls. The many campuses throughout the west have different policies and problems which they brought before the others.

Well built bodies don't just happen they're made! You can develop your body the same as you can your mind. Anyone who can pass a school physical has the potential for a superior well built body.

You can improve your physical being a great deal in a surprisingly short time no matter how puny or lanky you may now be.

Genuine interest, persistence, and the proper atmosphere and instruction are the assets one needs to succeed. This is as true in building a better body as it is in achieving anything worthwhile.

If you supply the initiative, Roy can supply the proper instruction. He's a walking example that he knows what he is talking about. He's had extensive schooling on body building and therapy, not only in college but in practical application.

Each individual is different. We all think differently, have different personalities and our bodies are different. Roy realizes this, so each individual is treated as such—the same pill cannot be used for all patients. Roy and his directors diagnose your physical capacities or potentials and prescribe accordingly. No one is given any exercise or training program that they cannot accomplish with ease. Everyone is seriously engaged in improving themselves so there is none of that how much can you lift stuff. Roy, Jerry, and Earl are always there to give personalized instruction and help you through your program.

Roy guarantees that if you follow his instructions and workouts to the best of your ability that you can have a much improved build in a very short time. Many of his present pupils have gained as much as 20 pounds in a month.

Girls, of course, don't desire large muscular bodies and opposed to what many people believe, that's not what they receive. Under competent instruction such as is available at the women's department of WOODWARD'S new A.C. they can add gracefully predominant curves to their bodies. What girl can honestly say to herself that she isn't interested in improving her figure? Modeling and charm training given by the gracious and talented Predove will be a special feature of WOODWARD'S. Predove will teach ballet, model and ballroom dancing. She will also teach a special airline hostess training program sponsored by one of the nation's leading airlines.

Thanks to the help of Provo's business men, WOODWARD'S A.C. is moving into beautiful brand new facilities, sometime around Christmas. It's the remodeled theatre at 338 W. Center. Roy takes crippled children and builds them up free of charge. Because of his public spiritedness the business men of Provo have helped him; because of this you can become a member of WOODWARD'S ATHLETIC CLUB for as low as $5 a month. The community is helping to contribute to Woodward's new facilities; they're here for you to enjoy.

BYU students get in for one-half price—first there, first served. Membership is definitely limited.

Cats Set For 'Do or Die' Ute Finale

Two great institutions of the intermountain west, Brigham Young University and the University of Utah will present their football tussle to the nation Thursday, November 26, as the traditional rivals clash in the annual Thanksgiving Day classic in Salt Lake City. Kickoff is at 1 p.m.

Through the magic of television, upwards of 40,000,000 people will view this game, the first ever to be televised to the nation from Utah.

This will be the 29th meeting of the two Beehive state schools, and the rivalry which has developed through the years is probably the most jealously guarded in college football history. The Utes have won 23 times, the Cougars only once. Four contests have ended in ties.

From the looks of things in general, another Utah victory seems to be in the offing. The Utes are undefeated in four conference starts, while losing only one of the conference games to Washington and Colorado. BYU has a won one-loss record in six Skyline contests. Outside the conference the Cougars have defeated Idaho and lost to San Jose State and Arizona State of Tempe.

Y Has A Best

Having played every weekend for two months, the Cougars have had a much needed 12-day rest since their game with Temple. Coach Charles (Chick) Atkinson's charges, short in depth, but tight in desire, will be up against the team that copped its third consecutive Skyline Conference football crown on Saturday, November 14, with a 35-14 demolition of Colorado A&M. The Cougars took a 30-12 pasting from the same Ram bunch week before.

A battle between quarterbacks Levon Satterfield of BYU and Utah's Don Rydick looks very probable. Rydick is ranked seventh in the nation in passing, netting 870 yards through the air in nine games.

Shooting at Brundage

Satterfield's chief target will be end Dewey Brundage, 6-foot, 3-inch, 190 pound senior from Pasadena, California, who is being boomed for a berth in the Shrine East-West game in San Francisco on Dec. 26.

Admittedly not much on defense, the Cats will have to match Utah's surging offense if they are to make a showing come Turkey Day. This is entirely possible because BYU unleashed a wild offense during the game in Pasadena, where the San Devils rolled up a little more than 300. However, the Brighamians came on the short end of a 26-15 score.

Utags Romp On Idaho Vandals; Rams Blast New Mexico Hopes

Old Man Football is gasping his last breath of the season as this week saw only two games—involving Skyline Eight teams—take place.

The first game was an intersectional affair in which Utah State romped over the University of Idaho, 19-7. It was evident to the 5000 fans that the best team won as the Aggies chalked up their eighth win of the season as against two losses.

Although proving the superior team of the two, the Aggies looked spotty at times, and it was only through their development of the breaks that they ran up their score.

Lobos Lead

In the only other game played, Colorado A&M led New Mexico 9-3, in a game where the weather nearly froze both teams. The A&M touchdown came on a last quarter drive to break a 3-3 tie.

BYU coach Dave Crowton says: "Since I started taking ELEMINE I have noticed I have more pep, more ready energy, more all around get up and go. Right now I feel better than I've felt in years. Try ELEMINE yourself, it can do the same for you."

JOHNSON'S JABBERINGS

by Nolan Johnson • Universe Sports Writer

Let's get this affair started this time with a little say about our coming basketball season.

With all but four of last year's squad returning, Coach Stan Watts should have as good an entry as before, even though the men who will not be back include All-American Joe Richey, All-Conference Harold Christensen, and the "old faker" Boyd Jarman, hand-off expert of the previous two seasons.

New Members

Coach Watts' squad will be bolstered by several new members up from last year's successful frosh team, so we'll have to sit back and see what develops.

Now, back to the old fall school spirit builder, King Football. Here at BYU it might be a weak kingdom, but there's got to be a reason for it. I know that you readers are probably getting tired of seeing printed gories of "no reserves, no depth, no great players, etc.," but something's holding football back here at the Y that isn't occurring at other Skyline schools.

Athletes Necessary

First of all, there are more players on the 34-man squad than ever met the public, so to speak, and still others who aren't playing ball because of the poor conditions offered to athletes. Many of these men feel that athletics are a very necessary part of college, just as necessary, in fact, to health and well-being as the educational part.

I'll reserve my opinion of the letter to the editor in last Thursday's paper from an apparent "Student" as I don't wish to make any enemies. But as for the Y gaining a reputation based on brute strength, I seriously wish it. Football does not necessarily mean brute strength, sportsmen consider it and all sports as an art, and to them it is just that.

Good Reputation

Another point, if you please. BYU's basketball team is known all over the world for its clean playing, sportsmanship, and also the clean living of the members of the team. This is serving as a type of missionary work for the Church and also for the Y.

We should make it desirable for players to wish to come here, and still get ones who are able to fit into President Wilkinson's strict interpretation of policy concerning athletes. It should be possible in the wide resources within the Church.

A little support would help greatly, and this year there's only one chance left to redeem ourselves; speaking of course, of the BYU football game in Salt Lake City on Thanksgiving Day. Let's all do our part, and I'm sure the football team will do theirs.

Robison's Record Stands...

Lundell and James Tie In Cross Country Race

by Don Stratton • Universe Sports Writer

Top Skyline Conference distance runners, Wayne Lundell and Sherald James breasted the tape side by side, Thursday in BYU's 1st annual cross country run, with a mark of 12 minutes flat. Walt Steffenen, fleet-footed returned missionary, placed third.

The pair, however, failed to crack Coach Clarence Robinson's 12:21 record. It became apparent, race officials reported, that heavy sweat clothes and freezing temperatures were enough to make a new record unlikely for the 2.6 mile jaunt. Upon measuring the course again, officials found it to be short one lap of the inside track.

Could Break Record

Coach Robinson, Cougar track and field mentor, stated that, "Both boys are capable of breaking the 1945 record." Lundell set the Skyline Conference two-mile record last spring. James and Lundell elected to hit the tape in a head heat as they have a countless number of times.

The Val Hyrie social unit chalked up 168 points to win team honors and set a new record for a single team. They placed four men. Other unit scores were as follows: Brighamians, 60; Jankies, Club, 58; Athenians, 54; Intercollegiate Knights, 53; Vikings, 38; Brickers, 25; Wyoming Club, 24; and California Rebels, 9.

Individual places in order are as follows: Sherald James and Wayne Lundell, Walt Steffenen, Perry Davenport, Gene Lens, David Cobia, Farrell Monson, Robert B. Smith, McKay Rollins, Dean Evans, Lduroy Westover, DuVon Fife, Dean Holt, Fred Lundell, Peter L. Myer, Douglas Spauldower, Bill Bergstrom, Ray Nyerson, Boyd Bliton, Jake Tift, Ralph Dominguez, Ken Bacon, John Baeon, John Carroll, Frank Crosby, Jerry McAfee, Everett Hagerty, LaMar Goffice, Al Daves, Uwe Hansen, Carl Bacon, John Wintner and Alan Thumacher.
